SLICK TYRES

For each grand prix weekend (free practice, qualifying, warm-up and race), riders have a total allocation of 22 slicks:

10 front slicks:

- Up to five A-specification compounds
- Up to five B-specification compounds
- Up to five C-specification compounds

12 rear slicks:

- Up to six A-specification compounds*
- Up to five B-specification compounds
- Up to four C-specification compounds

Riders participating in both Q1 and Q2 (a maximum of two competitors) will be granted an additional A-specification slick rear tyre – offering the optimum grip level – after Q2. This means that these two riders will have access to a maximum of seven A-specification rear tyres and 13 rear slicks.*

11

RAIN TYRES

Riders have a total allocation of 11 rain tyres per grand prix weekend (free practice, qualifying, warm-up and race):

5 front tyres:

- Up to four A-specification compounds
- Up to two B-specification compounds

6 rear tyres:

- Up to five A-specification compounds
- Up to two B-specification compounds

In instances where all of the free practice sessions and at least one qualifying session are declared 'wet', an extra set of rain tyres will be allocated to each rider. The new allocation will therefore be composed of:

6 front rain tyres

(four A-specification + two B-specification)

7 rear rain tyres

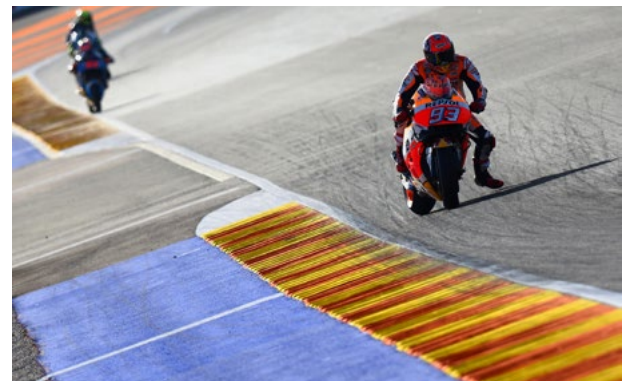

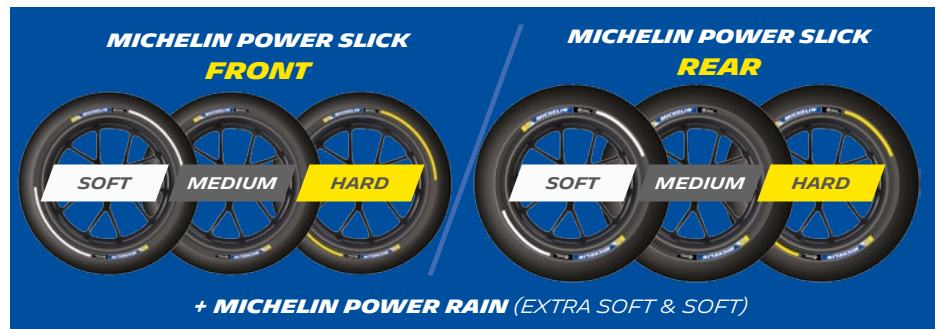

(five A-specification + two B-specification)

Tread re-cutting is prohibited.

PIERO TARAMASSO,
Michelin Motorsport Two-Wheel Manager

It's good to be back in Europe after the three-week tour of Asia-Pacific, but it is also tinged with a bit of sadness as this is the final race of the season. It seems like no time since the pre-season tests, but we have had some amazing races this year and it has been a very good and successful season for Michelin. Valencia brings its own challenges as it can be very cool in the mornings, so we need tyres that can warm-up quickly and give good adhesion, especially on the right side. It's also a track with lots of left turns over its short distance, so the left side of the tyre doesn't have much chance to cool down, so we have asymmetric tyres especially designed to take that into account. The final event is always a celebration for the fans and I'm sure this year will be the same, especially with the title going down to the wire.
